Founders It was formed by wives, daughters, grand-children and other descendants of pioneers who came to California in the early 1800's to seek their fortunes. Many members of the statewide order are descended from Spanish, Portuguese, French and Mexican explorers and/or military personnel, who landed on these shores and settled in the State in the 1700's.

Purpose of the founding, back in 1885, was to venerate the courage, labors, accomplishments and characters of those brave, adventurous men and women. Only California-born women are eligible for membership. Approximately 26,000 women belong to the statewide order, with 220 "parlors" (lodges) situated throughout the State.

Projects of the order include marking of historical landmarks of California; the NDGW Children's Foundation, which assists ailing children up to the age of 16 years, regardless of where they were born, and whose families' income-bracket is above that which can receive State or County aid when in need.

Other projects are Americanism and civic participation; conservation; legislative measures; NDGW Home in San Francisco; veterans' welfare, Mission restoration; safety and other projects.
